

AT THE THEATERS

BROADWAY.

June Dixon's Models will be the feature of the Pantages vaudeville show to be seen at the Broadway today and will present a series of famous paintings with live models employed, finishing with a social dance in which the girls perform. The subjects represented by the models are: "In the Harem," "The After-Carrier," "Youth's Pastime," "The Storm," "Nature's Mirror," "The Ugliness," "Innocence," "Rock of Ages," and "Springtime." Eddie and Bertha Moon will be the chief comedy feature of the bill with novelty comedy vocal and instrumental musical offering styled "The De and the Wagon." This pair of entertainers open as county kids and give a drop representing a farm scene. After some comedy which is due to the Eddie Moon sings a famous laughing song which he inherited from his father. An old-fashioned song is then rendered by the Moon, who has changed to a different point so that splendid music is made. The pair finish in modern costume and with modern entertainment.

Hays & Neal will entertain with a comedy skit called "The Soap Peddler." Hays takes the role of a flip traveling man and Dorothy Neal that of a man lawyer. The material is said to be very clever and this team is edited with ably handling it.

Ti Ling Sing is a Chinese violinist, wonderful artist, who forgets his long enough to dance around while playing one number, thus winning for him from all classes of theatergoers. Prince Kam Mi, the greatest and most mysterious man that ever came from India, will present the wonderful act known to him alone. Those who enjoy an act of this kind will prize Prince Kam Mi as the greatest they have ever seen.

GREAT STUNTS BY CAMERA OPERATORS to Show Photographically Exact Effects Actors Are Striving for.

Photographic effects are being given more and more attention by the producers of motion pictures, and the photography is being resorted to for ideas to audiences which they might not be clear.

In the filming of a photograph in which Miss June Caprice, the new film star, is seen to appear, director John G. Adolfi has originated a new one. Miss Caprice, in the character assigned to her, drinks champagne for the first time in her young life. As a result her head "goes out" and she not only sees double, triple, but the audience will see Miss Caprice in the champagne—in reality, in the film, she is going to see exactly what she is doing. The furniture and people in the room are photographed and the film patched together so that on viewing the picture everything is going to "see things" with Caprice.

Another scene in an old woman, a scene part in the film story, goes to the doorway to meet the Harry Hilliard. The woman is being old-fashioned "spectacles" and she is pushed up on her forehead. She looks closely at Hilliard and the movie audience will see him as she does—the blur of poor sight. This is done by photographing with the camera out of focus. When the old woman pulls her face down, the camera is focused very and Mr. Hilliard appears in sharp focus. Another new feature in motion pictures is a scene in which Miss Caprice is looking out of a window on a night night. The audience looks out and the reason and stars and stars in silhouette are seen in this scene was actually at night and is said to be the most perfect picture of starlight in films the sun is used to represent moon by allowing it to "sweep" the film and thus make black black as at night.

PARADE AT STATE CAPITAL.

Guards Can't Participate, So Won't Have Demonstration.

To The World.

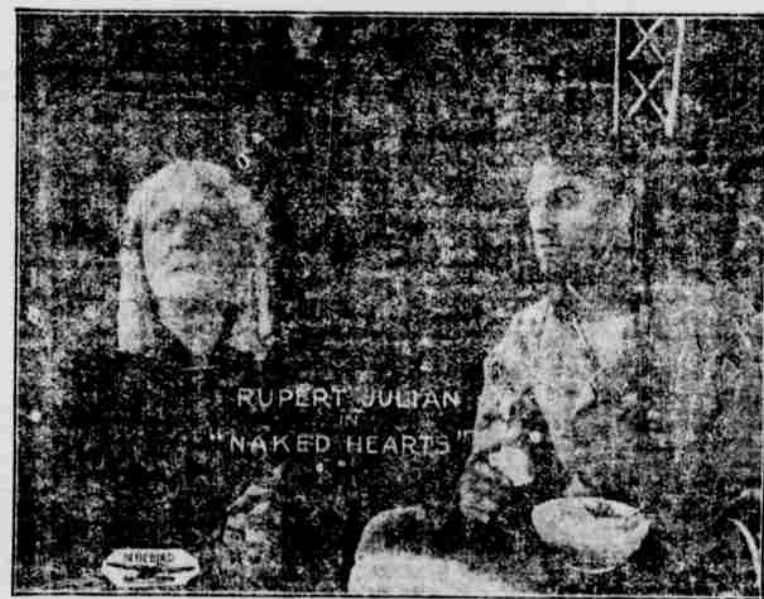

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 27.—The grandness parade arranged for June 3 was called off today.

could not guarantee the presence of the state guard in the parade, because he might receive a call at any time to send the guard to join the Texas, Arizona and New Mexico troops for border duty.

General Canton told the local committee that he had not received any such call yet, but that he was expecting it, and must be ready to move when it came. Then Mayor Overholser announced that the parade would not be held.

Offers Competition.

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 27.—Dick T. Moreau, Republican congressman from the Eleventh Oklahoma district, will have opposition in the campaign though he has none for the nomination. Z. A. Harris, Democrat, of Blackwell, has filed with the state election board to become a candidate for the nomination on the Democratic ticket. No other Democrat has filed in the district yet. It is regarded as safely Republican.

MINERS AFRAID TO REGISTER.

Were Told They Would Have to Pay Poll Tax, Registration Light.

Special to The World.

MIAMI, Okla., May 27.—Reports from the registrars in the mining districts show that the registration was very light among the miners. The reason for the light registration is given that the miners were afraid to register on account of thinking that they would have to pay poll tax. The report that registering would cause the miner to have to pay poll tax was circulated, freely among the miners, and most of the miners then failed to register for this reason.

PRIDE OF THE ZOO.

To Henry Smith, in charge of the zoo's bird families, has been entrusted the care of the valuable baby emu but recently hatched. This youngster is the pride of Henry's life and it follows him about the grounds like a pet dog. "Everywhere that Henry goes the emu is sure to go."

Some genius with a peculiar sense of humor spread the report among the small boys in the neighborhood of the Solis studio that an office boy was wanted. Office boy for a movie company? Oh, great! So thought every youngster for a wide area surrounding the zoo, and they came in flocks and droves, small boys of every description who descended upon the studio office, each one determined to land that job. The Tower of Babel would have been hailed as a feat cure!

WHAT THEY WEAR.

What they wear—Edith Johnson is partial to white shoes—and they're small. Victoria Ford, Tom Mix's leading lady, looks chic in velvet riding suits.

Kathlyn Williams appears almost every day in a new hat, and each ordinary creation is more stunning than the previous one.

Jacquette Penner is partial to picture hats with flowing white veils, and she is strikingly beautiful in them.

Bessie Kytton looks as pretty as a picture in a blue tailored walking suit and cute little hat.

Vivian Reed is a dream when she sallies forth in tennis slippers, white duck suits, and wears the tennis racket.

PECAN GRAFTING A REAL SUCCESS NOW

County Demonstration Believes Experiments Will Be Boon to Farmers.

Dr. E. E. Earnheart, farm demonstrator, has at least one pet hobby—the development of the pecan industry of Tulsa county. He has devoted considerable time to this subject, for he feels that there is a wonderful possibility in pecans for the improvement of the livelihood of the county.

His first efforts were toward the improvement of the crop through grafting "super" into the hardy tree. This year will see the first real test of the work of this effort in Tulsa county, though it has been a proven success in other portions of the south.

At present Doctor Earnheart is investigating the possibilities of the establishment of a purchasing station, making Tulsa county the shipping point for shelled pecans.

Each year Tulsa county ships a large number of carloads of pecans to Kansas City and other points, where they are prepared for the retail and bakers' markets. If Doctor Earnheart's efforts prove successful, Tulsa will be the market city for as far as the Oklahoma crop is concerned.

Another interesting development is the successful use of ground pecan shells as a floor sweep. This industry has developed to a big industry.

STATE FAIR BOOK FOR 1916 ISSUED

Many New Departments This Year; Will Be Held September 23 to 30.

The forerunner of a big and prosperous state fair—the 1916 premium list, has been issued and is ready for distribution. All rules and regulations and premiums in the twenty-three departments for the tenth annual Oklahoma state fair and exposition, to be held September 23 to 30, are outlined.

New features this year are the cotton show, the milk and cream show and a model dairy house to be conducted by government and state departments. Many thousands of dollars are listed for premiums in the live stock classes. Two new clubs have been added to the boys' and girls' club classes, crop rotation and peanut. The "breeding phase" has been included in the boys' pig club, offering many prizes for breeding records.

Amusement features are more numerous than in previous years. Auto races for two days, harness and running races four days, football, bands, hippodrome show and the Jones exposition shows on the Midway are mentioned. The spectacular "Last Days of Pompeii," a pantomime and fireworks night spectacle, with three hundred people, will be produced each night, for the first time in Oklahoma.

The Daily World's Limerick Contest Closes in Two Weeks

There will be but two more Sundays of limericks. Get them in. You may be the lucky one. The prizes are well worth the effort. A year's subscription to The World for the best one. We are printing all that come into the office before Friday of each week. Please give your name and address.

A spirited woman named Whitney decided she'd ride in a jiter. To the chauffeur she demanded: "For a dime, she said, 'Land—A nickel's a jiter, ya' gill me!'"

In Tulsa there once lived a notary. Who to figure of speech was a rotary. Said he: "If I rotate in manner orate."

Box No. 8 at Bristolow submits the following three limericks: At Bristolow there lives an old man. Who's doing the best that he can. The World he admires. Soon his expiration expires. To renew it, he's using this plan.

There was a plain man from Dundee. Went to Tulsa to see the cee. "Lewing deollette socks. With the 'high water' frocks. He was heard to exclaim—"chickeree."

A humorous man from Dubuque. Who never could speak Spanish plain. When he went out to dine. He'd ask so much wine. And said, "He deserves a rebuque."

"Till his clothes got all right. He's still burning but not in pain. —Gill McCall, Tulsa, Okla.

There was a d-d-d-man from Calcutta. Who sat his ank in the gutter. And the hot shining sun. Came down like a gun. And turned his cream into butter. —J. T. B.

Catching On to Dad. Eddie—Let's sneak round behind the barn and smoke a cigar. Sammy—Too likely to get caught. Ever since dad swore off New Year's day, he's been sneaking around there to smoke his own.—Judge.

What Was in the Cellar? "Olathe has an Englishman who reads the London papers faithfully. When it began to thunder last Thursday afternoon he ducked into a Zeppelin-proof cellar and stayed there for 24 hours."—Olathe Register.

Finding Out. Mother (to her small son, who is doing a jig-saw puzzle on the bathtub)—Bobby, are you sure that's a Sunday puzzle you are doing? Bobby—Well, you see, I can't tell until I've done it.—Punch.
